

CITIZEN REPORT CARD

Athens High School

Directions: Based on each category, how fair and just were each of the law codes?

| Course Title              | Final Grade12 tables | Teacher'sComments/Justification | Final GradeNap. Codes | Teacher'sComments/Justification |
|---------------------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Marriage/Gender Roles |                          |                                     |                           |                                     |
| Debt                      |                          |                                     |                           |                                     |
| Property/Inheritance  |                          |                                     |                           |                                     |
| Trials/Punishments    |                          |                                     |                           |                                     |

GRADING SCALE

A = Most Fair and Just, laws strongly protect the rights of citizens

B = Mostly Fair and Just, law generally supports justice, but may contain some limitations and biases.

C = Somewhat Fair but Flawed, the law includes both just and unjust elements.

D = Mostly Unfair and Unjust, serves the interest of a select few.

F = Least Fair and Just, the law is oppressive and harmful to citizens.