

School Graffiti Fiasco - A Teacher who gives a student poor advice?

Assign a student for each of the five roles. Roles: Student, Students Friend, Injured Student, Trusted Teacher (Teacher), Principal Narrator (Teacher) You, the student is secretly playing in the art room with your friend. What you didn't expect, is that your horsing around may hurt an innocent bystander...

Student: Dude, I really think we should leave, I don't want to get caught in the art room after school hours.

Student Friend: Stop whining man I want to look and see if there is any spray paint in here, it would be crazy if we spray painted Auburn's logo on the football field.

Student: I guess... that would be funny, would really inspire the baseball team for the game, wouldn't it?

Student Friend: That's the point dude; hey this is good catch this! (Student Friend throws the object and completely misses, hitting the Injured Student)

Injured Student: (Acting hurt) Dude you hit my head! I feel dizzy and my head is killing me! AHH!

Both Student Friend and Student in unison: We are so in trouble

Narrator: Both students quickly rushed to get help from the School Resource Officer and a trusted teacher was nearby thankfully to provide them advice.

Trusted Teacher: Well, considering you were digging around the art room unsupervised is an issue. But I will say that you should both avoid being honest with the principal to maybe get off lucky.

Student: Wait what? Wouldn't it make more sense to just admit it was us?

Student Friend: Yea aren't you a teacher, why would you give us poor advice?

Trusted Teacher: Shhh, trust me I know what I'm doing, just don't admit to anything.

(Insert Principal)

Principal: What are you both doing in the art room? And why on earth did you hurl a spray can bottle at another student?!

Trusted Teacher: Well to be frank the injured student shouldn't be here either, but these two were just using the bathroom and found the other student injured. Isn't that right you two?

Both Student and Student Friend nod.

Principal: That is your position? If you stick to it and I find out otherwise you will both, be suspended for a week. If you admit now, you'll get 3 days of in school suspension. What'll it be?

Student Friend: We didn't do anything, we swear to it.

Principal: Alright, let's pull the camera.

Narrator: The principal takes the students and the teacher to the office and displays the camera clearly showing the students in the art room accidentally throwing the bottle at the now injured student.

Principal: Your story held up well. I am disappointed to see my students lie and a teacher give them horrible advice; your job is to help students not be a bad influence. I hope we have all learned from this.

Student: Does that mean we are suspended?

Student Friend: Yeah, and what about Mr. Polk?

Principal: You both will enjoy a nice quiet week at home, and I will be happy to alert your guardians. As for Mr. Polk, you won't see him again.